This book describes how American and Japanese management ideologies meet, collide, and contend in the process of competitive cooperation during a joint venture in Japan. In a detailed case study, Hamada describes the very real problems when Japanese and American managers run a business operation, and analyzes them from a comparative, relativistic, and historical perspective. The author presents a novel and effective way of viewing organizational dynamics, seeing the [unfinished] cultural process between different sub-groups who create and recreate the symbolic meanings of corporate phenomena. Her succinct analysis of Japanese and American behavioral modes makes both practical and theoretical contributions to the field of international management. Highlighting the interdependence between corporate culture and broader societal culture, Hamada looks closely at interactions between American and Japanese businessmen, analyzes their cultural differences, and proposes that these differences can be viewed not just as a source of continuing conflict but of dynamic cooperation.

A large-scale biography of a major figure in American enterprise, the man who built General Electric and founded the Radio Corporation of America. Owen D. Young belonged to a unique American generation: the last to know a country where the majority made their living from the land and the first to feel the full impact of modernization. Born on an upstate New York farm, educated at St. Lawrence, a small college nearby, and armed with a Boston University law degree, Young made a large difference in that transforming change. His early career was with the new and sprawling utilities, and brought him to the attention of the General Electric Company. Joining it in 1913 as vice president and general counsel, and becoming chairman in 1922, with Gerard Swope as president, he soon transformed, with Swope's impressive aid, a large national enterprise into a dominant international one. They were a singularly effective team, enterprising at home and abroad, and notably progressive in labor relations. Always the entrepreneur, Young saw the possibilities of the 'wireless' and so set up the Radio Corporation of America. This is a life of a titan of business, built on the classical pattern of American success.

The Great American Enterprise is Broken! We now have no debt limit and $30 trillion in debt with a credit rating of, at best B-. What next? What do we do when we can't cut checks for social security, Medicare and Medicaid claim, government payroll and interest payments to China, Japan and millions of 10-year treasury notes with interest due and past due? Since America is insolvent, as debt escalates, the value of the dollar shrinks and cash flow disappears, America needs a third political party to act as the legislative "swing vote" on saving the Great American Enterprise from bankruptcy and ensuring our global sovereignty. (See the following financial data reported on the debt clock for second by the second financial condition of the American economy: www.usdebtclock.org). 1. Negative net assets, using GAAP generally accepted accounting principles, means zero financial net worth when national assets of $161 trillion are less than the total national debt of $210 trillion. 2. Negative cash flow $6 trillion in expenditures and $4 trillion in receipts every year creating accumulated deficits of $158 trillion based on generally accepted accounting principles. 3. Negative debt limit of $27 trillion suspended during the 2020 election is exceeded by $3 trillion with the credit rating declining. 4. Negative net revenue (current tax revenues are only half of budget outlays). Unfunded Federal, State and Local Government pensions approach $900 billion. 5. Negative borrowing strength due to current insolvency and borrowing more for funding the Pandemic stimulus, Infrastructure and the Green New Deal. 6. Negative future with new progressive administration increasing taxes, rushing into additional debt financing of social programs, with China's CCP breathing down our necks. The American Enterprise Party( www.americanenterprisepoliticalparty.org) will represent the Swing Vote that only takes a few seats in the 50/50 Senate and the narrow margin in the House to make a difference in correcting the financial and social problems that a gridlocked Congress and progressive President have dealt with its 200 million enterprising American workers and their families.

Beginning with the first Japanese and Americans to make contact in the early 1800s, Michael Auslin traces a unique cultural relationship. He focuses on organizations devoted to cultural exchange, such as the American Friends' Association in Tokyo and the Japan Society of New York, as well as key individuals who promoted mutual understanding.

In this book, American and Japanese experts examine to what extent diverging priorities in the U.S.-Japan alliance are real and whether they are not remedied with political and diplomatic leadership and other processes. American and Japanese authors are paired to analyze the same topic, where doing so is possible, for comparing their perspectives.
